How do you assess your SAP EWM workforce capability and capacity needs, including skills, competencies, and staffing levels? Who is the main stakeholder, with ultimate responsibility for driving SAP EWM forward? Does SAP EWM systematically track and analyze outcomes for accountability and quality improvement? What other areas of the organization might benefit from the SAP EWM team's improvements, knowledge, and learning? How will you know that the SAP EWM project has been successful?

Defining, designing, creating, and implementing a process to solve a business challenge or meet a business objective is the most valuable role... In EVERY company, organization and department.

Unless you are talking a one-time, single-use project within a business, there should be a process. Whether that process is managed and implemented by humans, AI, or a combination of the two, it needs to be designed by someone with a complex enough perspective to ask the right questions. Someone capable of asking the right questions and step back and say, 'What are we really trying to accomplish here? And is there a different way to look at it?'

This Self-Assessment empowers people to do just that - whether their title is entrepreneur, manager, consultant, (Vice-)President, CxO etc... - they are the people who rule the future. They are the person who asks the right questions to make SAP EWM investments work better.

This SAP EWM All-Inclusive Self-Assessment enables You to be that person.

All the tools you need to an in-depth SAP EWM Self-Assessment. Featuring 717 new and updated case-based questions, organized into seven core areas of process design, this Self-Assessment will help you identify areas in which SAP EWM improvements can be made.

In using the questions you will be better able to:

- diagnose SAP EWM projects, initiatives, organizations, businesses and processes using accepted diagnostic standards and practices
- implement evidence-based best practice strategies aligned with overall goals
- integrate recent advances in SAP EWM and process design strategies into practice according to best practice guidelines
